No Snow,
No Ice,

No
Problem

Twenty-five years ago, The Margaritaville Store opened in Land's End Village on the calm Gulf-side waters of Key West, FL. From a 500 square foot retail store catering to locals and pre-Parrot Heads, Margaritaville, like the proverbial pebble in the lake, has rippled into reality catering to a worldwide audience in cafes, stores, grocery store shelves, bars & grills, hotels and soon to be full-blown resorts.

All the while, Jimmy kept in touch with his fans; through the pages of a simple newsletter, toll-free phone lines, chat groups on erstwhile text-based communication rooms, and through early online applications such as Prodigy, Compuserve, and America Online. Each Buffett breakthrough required multiple postings to keep the growing legion of login fanatics informed.

The Coconut Telegraph began as a double-fold brochure mailed to those interested in Jimmy, Coral Reefer band members, and touring information. Over time, it recognized the obvious connection with Jimmy and Key West; it's history, happenings and current events.

Chat groups reveled in the symbiotic relationship between Jimmy and Key West and an early group referred to as Prodigy Parrot Heads consummated their keyboard kinship in the Margaritaville Café late in 1989. This initial meeting planted the seed for the thousands who would eventually attend the annual Meeting of the Minds in our island city.

Margaritaville.com was an early entry to the online community cul-de-sac, offering Parrot Heads an opportunity to chat, view photos, shop, and plan tour dates. The attractive, heavily trafficked website heads many fans' favorites list and continues to represent Jimmy and Margaritaville as a virtual island in the World Wide Waters.

And now comes Facebook, the social networking service that, like Jimmy Buffett and Key West, is inseparable from the Internet. It has grown beyond its early confines of family photos to the go-to communication tool for savvy surfers across the globe.

The virtual world of Margaritaville Online will be coming to Facebook. In addition to being able to play mini-games and interact with characters straight out of Jimmy's books, players will be able to save up points to customize the look of their very own beach oasis.

John Guadosi writes on Forbes.com, "The game looks more like a Wii console title than a traditional Facebook game. For one, it's a lush, tropical 3D open world that has a colorful cartoon feel. The developer has nailed the laidback attitude that Buffett and his Parrot Heads have lived by for so many decades. Players can jump on a boat and tour the coast or explore friends' personalized island resorts. There's plenty of memorable Buffett music to enjoy as you play mini-games like Limbo."

"Socializing is a core tenant of the game and players can hang out by the bar and drink Buffett's own LandShark Beer or form a band and play their own tunes. Fans of his bestselling books will be able to talk to characters straight off the page. There's Captain Tony's Boats and Planes outpost and Joe Merchant's Trading Post." Margaritaville and The Flamingo Las Vegas are bringing to the city a gaming experience unlike anything else with the opening this Fall of the “Margaritaville Casino at the Flamingo”, a new and exciting gaming space. This is the first casino gaming space to bear the well-known and respected Margaritaville name. Jimmy Buffett’s Margaritaville restaurant has been a dynamic addition to the Las Vegas Strip experience since its 2004 opening at the famed center Strip resort.

At the “Margaritaville Casino at the Flamingo”, guests will feel the energy of the Las Vegas Strip while enjoying the laid-back vibe of the islands. Adjoining the restaurant and directly accessible from the Strip sidewalk, the “Margaritaville Casino at the Flamingo” will include 15,000-square-feet and offer 22 gaming tables, 220 slot machines and the centerpiece 5 O’Clock Somewhere Bar.

The “Margaritaville Casino at the Flamingo” gaming activities will operate under the Flamingo’s gaming license. They will be a perfect complement to Jimmy Buffett’s Margaritaville restaurant, currently one of the most popular spots on the Las Vegas Strip and one of the busiest in the United States. Visitors, residents, Parrotheads and anyone who has ever dreamed of escaping to the tropics and sipping a margarita will enjoy being immersed in the total Margaritaville experience.

“Building on the many years of success the Flamingo resort and Margaritaville restaurant have had together, we are looking forward to expanding the guest experience with the new ‘Margaritaville Casino at the Flamingo’,” said Rick Mazer, Regional President of five Caesars Entertainment resort destinations in Las Vegas. “With this new addition, visitors from around the world will have the opportunity to continue the fun and enjoy the escapist life style evoked by Jimmy Buffett’s music.”

LandShark Teams Up With Ocean Conservancy

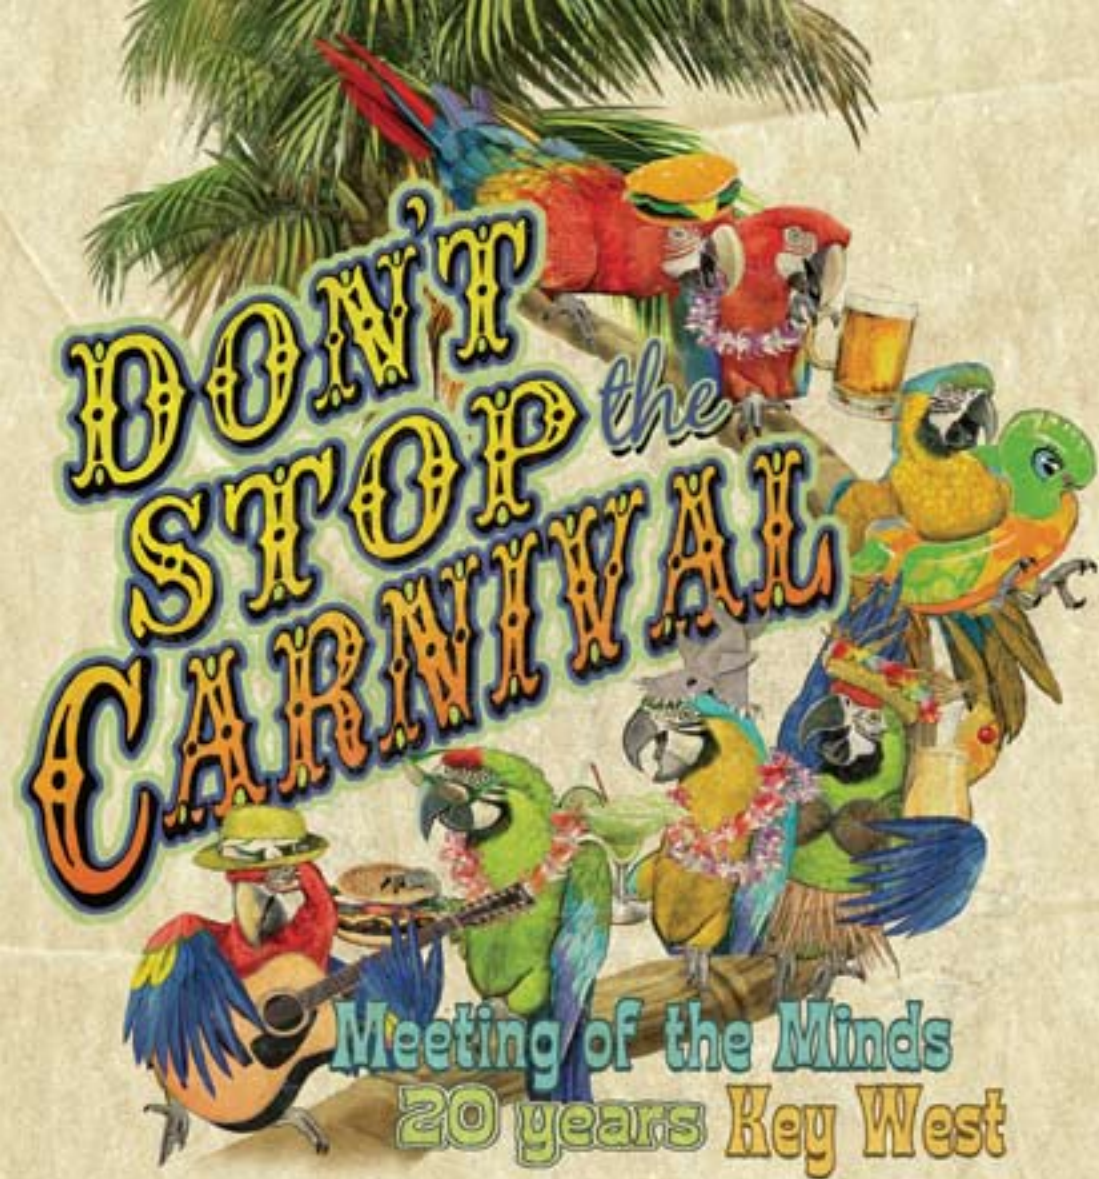

LandShark Lager has partnered with Ocean Conservancy to keep our oceans clean and beautiful. Together we can raise awareness about the simple things we can all do to help - let's all do our part until the coast is clear.

A sea change can return the ocean to health. Ocean Conservancy believes that it's time to look beneath the surface to see where the health of our planet really begins. It's time to recognize the source that sustains us day to day with the food we eat, the water we drink, and the air we breathe...to discover that all living things are connected to the ocean. It's time to understand that going green starts with living blue. It's time to start a sea change.

LandShark Lager is doing its part to help. Some of the steps we have taken include:

-  We recycle more than 99% of the solid waste generated in our facilities.
-  We've reduced our water use at our facilities by 37% in the last 4 years.
-  We've reduced energy usage by 19% in the last 4 years.

Party With A Purpose Indeed

Thirty-five years ago a young singer-songwriter with a dull guitar and a sharp wit arrived at the end of the road in Key West. Jimmy Buffett lyrically documented the lives of his friends and followed fame up A1A fostering a fanatical fan base while offering them a lifestyle to pursue.

These same fans come to Key West on an annual Margaritaville Mecca, to meet with likeminded friends, mellow in the fading tropical glow that we take for granted, and leave in their wake thousands of dollars in charitable donations, restaurant and ATM receipts, and a bloated bloodmobile.

Their mantra...Party with a Purpose. Over the last decade Parrot Heads have raised and contributed over 22 million dollars for local and national charities. This year we'll be raising much needed funds for Reef Relief, a nonprofit membership organization dedicated to improving and protecting our coral reef ecosystem.

So I thank you Parrot Heads, as do all Margaritians, for your laminate leis and your giving ways. And while I'm at it, the Florida Keys Children Shelter, Bahama Village Music Program, Hospice of the Florida Keys, Zonta, Boys & Girls Club, the Florida Keys SPCA and this year's beneficiary, Reef Relief. Thank you.
